Seeking the Best Markets.
Most traders try to buy in the cheapest market and to sell in the dearest, but it takes them all their time as a rule, to sell in the market that coopes handiest.
Dignity and Impudence.
There used to be an old gentleman who lived in one of the parishes of Louisiana who was noted for his tremendous deportment and punctuality. Arriving in New Orleans for the first time, he accosted a young man-about-town, who was standing on the corner of the street: "I wish, my young friend," said he, taking out his watch, "to go to the St. Charles hotel." "Well," said the gilded youth, "you may go, but don't stay but half an hour."
